By Terrific Gales

WARSAW, Poland, July 21.—(UP)—A hurricane devastated the Lublin district today, leaving death and terrific destruction in its path. Early reports said 19 were killed and 300 injured, many badly. Reports from the scene of disaster were delayed by disrupted communication facilities.

The wind destroyed 1000 houses. Lublin is a city of 50,000 persons, about 95 miles southeast of Warsaw. It is one of the handsomest towns of the country, with numerous old churches, a large military hospital and other interesting buildings.

It is a manufacturing center for woolen cloth, tobacco and other products, and is a trading center.

J. S. MISSIONARY IS ARRESTED IN CHINA

PIEPING, China, July 21.—(UP)—A sensation in foreign quarters was caused today by an announcement at the United States legation that Dr. Francis Tucker, a medical missionary, had been arrested by the Chinese in Shantung province.

The legation statement said Dr. Tucker had been removed to Tsinanfu, capital of Shantung, and placed in prison.

The reported action is a breach of the extra territoriality treaty with the United States, which Washington has refused to permit him to abolish.

Dr. Tucker's reported arrest at Tsinanfu followed an incident at Echow, Shantung, recently, when a fatally wounded Chinese worker in the missionary hospital with which he is connected there.

Dr. Tucker said he shot thinking the Chinese was a burglar.

Judge Walter C. Lindley handed down the decision after having the case under advisement several weeks. The two-day trial, in which the defendants waived a jury, cost the government $4000.

EVANGELIST'S SON TO MARRY THIS EVENING

McPherson says the wedding will be the "greatest ever solemnized in the Temple."

She's going to wear a white silk gown and a white satin cape, she said. The bride will wear a white satin dress with a three-yard train and a veil "a lot longer than that."

After Mrs. McPherson has pronounced an official and a maternal blessing all in one, curtains at the back of the stage will be thrown apart to reveal a huge wedding cake, made in the form of a miniature Angelus Temple.

Miss Smith, a former Oklahoman, first met Rolf when she started in Mrs. McPherson's Bible class. Now they both hold services at Four Square Gospel branches. They will go to the mountains for their honeymoon.

JOSEPH HOLUB HELD TO HIGHER COURT

Joseph Holub, 25, charged with escaping from the Orange county jail, was held to answer to the superior court from Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today after he had waived his preliminary examination.

He was returned here yesterday from Bend, Oregon, where he was arrested several days ago after a two year search had been conducted by sheriff's officers.

Holub escaped from the county jail after he had been let out for a few minutes to empty a garbage can. He ran to the garage next door, stole a county car and a county owned rifle and disappeared. He was serving a sentence on a liquor violation at the time.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

Do not lose you zeal in endeavoring to be a good steward of the opportunities which God presents for you to serve your fellow man merely because your undertakings seem to fail.

The secret of spiritual success is not the attainment of strength and power and peace; it is a "sensation of beginnings."

Partial failure is involved in spiritual discipline; indeed it is inevitable. But if you have earnestly tried you are unable to clearly see the desired goal or understand it. When you have succeeded the part (and every attempt) constitutes a measure of success) you know o much better what you are seeking than that your present accomplishments limit the progress.

In spite of your heartache and loneliness keep steadily on; be again and again when you seem to be worsted. You are in process of winning and your dear one's heart is glad because you are trying.

RNS—At the home of her parents, Mrs. Waldo Harold Burns, Garden Grove, Beverly Mae Burns, age 2 years. Announcement of funeral later by Harrell and Brown, 116 West Seventeenth Street.

Fastest Speeder Asks For Trial Before Morrison

E. A. Ott, of 125 North Janss street, Fullerton, arrested yesterday by State Traffic Officer Oscar Kelly may prove to be the fastest speeder ever caught in Orange county.

He was given a ticket charging speed at 72 miles an hour over the coast highway, but according to the officer was going much faster than that.

Ott apparently does things in a big way—for when told that he was in the Seal Beach township and that is where he would have to appear to answer the charge, demanded that he be sent to Justice Kenneth Morrison's court for a hearing, which indicated that either Justice Morrison's reputation for sending "fast" speeders to jail is not as well known as was thought, or that Ott has not lived in this country very long.

Anyway, Ott has a red ticket and is to appear in Justice Morrison's court on July 27 to answer to the charge.

Officer Kelly reported that his motorcycle's speedometer registered 80 miles an hour as he chased the car in which Ott was riding and that the car was leaving him. Kelly was conservative when he booked the motorist for only 72 miles an hour, he said.

GOBLE ISSUES STATEMENT ON COUNCIL ACT

"I'll have to say that the action of the city council in actually voting to consign any communication, from any constituent, to the waste basket, was a complete surprise to me," said Wayne Goble, secretary of the Orange County Civic League today, in commenting on action of the city trustees last night. "It is doubly surprising when that communication was from an organization which has such widespread support as this league has received."

"It also looks somewhat in the nature of a confession of our position, for which they could find no answer other than complete disregard. It also indicates an official attitude of mind which is impatient of any criticism, no matter how constructive. It further confirms the impression, already given, that the new city council, supposedly elected to carry out an economy program on behalf of taxpayers, apparently has no such intentions."

"The peculiar thing about it is that the one trustee who was generally regarded as having been elected, over great odds, by the support of the Good Government league, which has been supanted by the Orange County Civic league, was the trustee who made the motion last night to consign the Civic league's communication to the waste basket. Naturally that is a disappointment to league supporters, who had great hopes of having his support in bettering tax conditions.

Quotes Record

"The records show that the motion last night was made by Trustee E. G. Warner, seconded by J. L. McBride, and also voted for by A. C. Hasenjaeger. The following brief excerpt from the city clerk's records shows how they voted on appropriations mentioned in our letter:

"$55 donation for ad in real estate magazine. Motion by Warner, seconded by Knox.

"$55 donation for ad in Masonic Bulletin. Motion by Warner, seconded by McBride.

"$34 donation for ad in Santa Ana Register. Motion by Warner, seconded by McBride.

"$25 donation to Knights and Daughters of Tabernacle. Motion by Warner, seconded by McBride.

"$200 donation to Co. L mess fund. Motion by McBride, seconded by Hasenjaeger.

"$2400 to Community Chest through special police salaries. Motion by Hasenjaeger, seconded by McBride.

"$2000 donation to school playgrounds. Motion by McBride, seconded by Warner.

"The League will not be discouraged by the action on the part of the trustees, because we are confident that as a consequence the people of the community will be more deeply impressed with the necessity of the work we are attempting to do."

EVANGELIST OPENS MORNING MEETINGS

The first of a series of morning inspirational services to be held daily between 9:30 and 10:30 o'clock was at the tabernacle on South Broadway this morning by Evangelist John Brown who chose as his text "When He, the Spirit of Truth, is come."

Bible history is divided into eight distinct dispensations. Five of these dispensations are past, we are probably at the close of the sixth, and two are yet to come," said Brown in opening the discussion.

"A proper conception of spiritual truths is the first necessary step on the way to the intelligently surrendered life, and men and women cannot have a proper conception of the Third Person of the Trinity and His Relation to men, unless they understand the Holy Spirit in His relation to these dispensations, the evangelist declared.

"Innocence, conscience, authority, peace, love, faith, millennial glory, and eternity were named by the speaker as the various dispensations.

The series is being broadcast over KREG.

COLTON'S LEAD IS SHAVED FULL GAME

Colton's lead in the American Night league, sister circuit of the National Night loop, was slashed a full game last night when Rialto handed the Reds a 2-0 shutout.

Colton is now leading the race by one game, and may have to play Riverside again soon, if the Rubes win a protest they filed over their 5-4 defeat at Colton last week.

An unheralded pitcher named Glenn beat Colton last night, Rialto giving him a two-run lead in the first inning. Thereafter Vern Botts, ace Colton moundman, allowed only two hits and fanned 14, but his mates couldn't make up the lost ground for him. The score:

R.H.E. Rialto 200 000 000 - 2 4 Colton 000 000 000 - 6 0 Glenn and Hughes; Botts and Sorenson, Strain.

Riverside nosed out Arlington, 5-7. 6-4, 6-4.

AUTOWRECKS HURT FIVE IN ORANGE COUNTY

Five persons were injured in three automobile accidents which occurred in the county late yesterday and today.

When his car skidded and turned over on the highway, two miles west of Westminster, on West Seventeenth street at 10:30 a.m. today, A. Koenig, driver for the O. S. Peterson radio company of Long Beach, was seriously injured, according to a report filed at the sheriff's office by Joe A. Merrick of 111 Apolena avenue, Balboa Island.

Merrick was in another car at the scene of the accident at the time and aided in sending the injured man to the Seaside hospital in Long Beach. Koenig suffered a broken arm, leg and possible fracture of several ribs, it was reported.

Officer Kelly reported that his motorcycle's speedometer registered 80 miles an hour as he chased the car in which Ott was riding and that the car was leaving him. Kelly was conservative when he booked the motorist for only 72 miles an hour, he said.

Two small sons of R. Porter, of West Orange Grove road, near Anaheim, were reported injured yesterday when the car in which they were riding collided with a machine driven by Mrs. J. B. Howard, of Silver Acres, at Hazard street and Verano road, according to a report filed with the sheriff. The boys, who were cut and bruised were taken to their homes.

Fred Gann and G. W. Schroeder, of Ramona, suffered cuts and bruises of a minor nature, when the car in which they were riding collided with another machine on West Chapman avenue yesterday afternoon, according to a report filed here. They were able to go to their homes.

STATE OFFICIAL TO AID CONTRACTORS

Charles Hansman, state representative for the registrar of contractors, will be in Santa Ana tomorrow and Thursday in room 207 of the Builder's Exchange building for the purpose of assisting county contractors in making application for their contractor's licenses it was announced today by Walter F. Sorenson, president of the Orange County Builder's Exchange.

Contractors are warned by the state department of professional and vocational standards to secure their annual licenses before July 30. Unless such application is filed before that date, under the provisions of the recently enacted contractor's license law, applicants will be fined $10, making their fee $20 instead of $10.

EQUALIZATION ENTER PROTEST BOARD MAKES AGAINST NEW ONE REDUCTION CHURCH EDIFICE

With 30 petitions for reduction or cancellation of assessments against property in Orange county before them, the board of supervisors, sitting as a board of equalization, adjourned yesterday after sustaining Assessor James Sleper in all but one case. Assessments on Bethel church of Fullerton, property of the California Institute of Technology, and Doheny park, south of Capistrano, were cancelled as a matter of routine. All property used exclusively for church or school purposes is exempted and exemption was granted Doheny park on the grounds that it is state property and tax exempt.

E. R. Knight was the only successful applicant for reduction in assessed values. He protested assessment of nursery stock and secured a reduction from $1000 to $500. A protest by H. R. Smith, in connection with the old Rochester hotel in Orange was denied. The request for an adjustment was based on the grounds that the building is being razed at present. The assessment was allowed to stand on the grounds that removal of the building had not been started on the first Monday of March and therefore was subject to assessment.

Hearings were granted on the following protests: N. L. Elliott, N. N. Parson, G. W. Witzel, J. E. Stuart, San Pedro Lumber company, seeking a reduction of assessment levied on logs at the company's Buena Park ranch; Sue Parsons, Mrs. Jack MacDonough, Helen K. Weinschenk, Battie Allen, R. B. Carey, M. P. Kellogg, Duncan M. Bond, Arthur W. Cleaver, on laundry equipment, Salvador R. Monoco, Charles E. Bartlett, E. J. Nash, S. L. Plosser, Henry S. Woerner, David Staverson, Geo. PLANNING BODY APPOINTMENT DELAYED AGAIN

The question of whether Mrs. Clara Cushman shall be secretary of the city planning commission at a salary of $50 monthly, is still undetermined by the city council. Another attempt to solve the problem was frustrated last night on a point of order and question of procedure.

Councilman Paul Witmer moved that Mrs. Cushman be employed at a salary of $25 a month, instead of the $50 a month which she received under the old council's regime.

After an embarrassing five minute delay, while Mayor John Knox waited for some other member of the council to second Witmer's motion and the second was not forthcoming, the mayor called Councilman Warner to the chair and seconded the motion himself.

As he did, Councilman J. L. McBride rose to point of order and declared that would take more than a motion to appoint Mrs. Cushman at $25 per month, in that there was an ordinance in effect which set the secretary's salary at $50 and declared that it would take an ordinance and not a motion to repeal the former ordinance.

At this point, President-pro-temp Warner ruled that the matter be referred to the city attorney for one week. In the meantime the ordinance will be investigated.

Supervisors Meet In Old Quarters For Last Time

Meeting today for the last time in the quarters used for more than 30 years, the board of supervisors sold bonds of the Garden Grove water district, amounting to $31,650, to the District Bond company on the highest bid, offering a premium of $69. The only other bidder was G. W. Bond and Son of Santa Ana, offering a premium of $21.

Bids for public liability and property damage covering county-owned automobiles and non-ownership cars operated by county employees were opened and action deferred for two weeks until August 4.

Following are the bids submitted: Charles B. Morgan, $3212.14; Arthur L. Yarborough, $4076.36 and $3212.14; Franklin R. Pitner, $4076.32; A. J. Ralph Agency, $3212.14; P. E. The committee represents 14 insurance associations from Fullerton, Anaheim and Santa Ana. John A. Henderson was chairman of the committee and the other members were A. Curtis Case, Anaheim, and Frank Crooke of Fullerton.

Supervisors Of 3 Counties To Hold Closed Conference

Acting upon the request of the Orange county board of supervisors, Francis Cuttle, president of the Water Conservation association, has canceled all invitations to parties, other than supervisors of San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties, to the conference scheduled for next Friday at Riverside.

This action was taken this morning after Cuttle appeared before the board and was informed that it was the desire of the Orange county board to have a closed session with the supervisors of the other interested counties. Chairman Mitchell of the Orange county board intimated that at a later date the supervisors of the three counties might consider an open meeting in which representatives of water companies and other interested parties would be welcomed.

In requesting this closed session, Mitchell said that he felt that supervisors of the three counties should get together and discuss the situation thoroughly and review all phases of the matter before opening the meeting to outside discussion.

Charles Walker, president of the planning commission stated that if the deeds of the residents showed that the property was restricted that the planning commission could not approve the project. He asked that some of the deeds be brought before the planning commission together with a petition of protest from the property owners.

The matter was referred to the planning commission which promised to report back to the council one week later.

At the same time the St. Joseph's Catholic church asked permission to erect a convent at Garfield and Lacy streets, on the other side of the city, near the location of the Catholic church.

The planning commission approved the plan and referred it to the city council and date for the hearing of protests was set for next Monday night at the regular meeting of the council.

BAND CONCERT WILL FEATURE OPERA MUSIC

FORMER SOLON FROM GEORGIA DEFENDS DRY'S

Announcement was made today by D. C. Gianfoni, director of the Santa Ana Municipal band, that the concert program to be presented in Birch Park next Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock, will be in honor of "Orange County Night." At this time, the famous overture from Rossini's "William Tell" will be a featured request selection.

Additional numbers to be offered by the band will include selections from such contrasting operatic masterpieces as Verdi's "Il Trovatore" and Meyerbeer's "Les Huguenots," while as a special attraction, George Stinson, well-known tenor of Orange county, and popularly known as "The Singing Cop," will be featured in an appealing song group. He will be accompanied at the piano by Frances Adams.

Stinson, a protege of the celebrated opera singer, Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, is well known to music lovers of this section. A glowing future of the concert stage has been predicted for him by authorities. He has already appeared upon the stage in many cities, and has to his credit various triumphs in the role of tenor soloist. At present he is coaching with Guido Caselotti, prominent Los Angeles opera coach, preparatory to his appearance in grand opera some time this fall. He will take part in the well known opera "Aida."

The dramatic overture from "William Tell" is one of the best of its kind, and one of the most widely popular of any in the entire range of orchestral literature. The first theme of the overture pictures the mountain calm and solitude of Alpine heights, their serene repose and harmony broken by the vivid contrast of the great storm scene, with entire instrumentation participating with a realism that is extraordinary. When the storm subsides, a pastoral theme portrays the grazing flocks, with gay snatches of shepherd's song. To the calm repose of the first theme is added freshness and simple gaiety. The overture closes brilliantly, with intensity of feeling and emotion.

SUPERIOR OIL DENIES REPORT ON REFINERY

Denial of a recent report that the Superior Oil company is planning the erection of a refinery at Huntington Beach or has contemplated such action was made here yesterday by Guy W. Finney, representative of the company. Finney said that the company he represents does contemplate the building of an absorption plant and possibly a reduction plant to handle waste water, and declared that neither of these projects will be objectionable to the city or its residents.

Finney's statement was:

"Certain misapprehensions have arisen in connection with the proposal of the Superior Oil company to erect an absorption plant at Huntington Beach and it is the desire of the company to acquaint the public with the facts. The Superior expects to build, not a refinery, but a simple absorption plant which will be necessary to handle the casing head gasoline from its Gillette well, in

A word from Harry D. himself: "Up until this time I have always had a sales force of not less than four men and fully one-half of my time was required to plan and direct these salesmen's activities, in arranging sales meetings, sales courses for them to study to equip themselves with more knowledge of our fine new cars and how to tell about and demonstrate the merits of our cars in the shortest time possible, thereby conserving both the salesmen's and prospects' time; in conducting classes for quizzing and practicing the subjects assigned them to study; in recording each one of their prospects, and then I would follow thru to see that each salesman would hound, pester and haunt each one of his prospects until the prospect in desperation would either buy a new Studebaker or Pierce-Arrow from us, or some other car, if for no other reason than just to get the salesmen 'off their necks'; then I had to follow thru to see that each of their demonstrators were in proper condition, filled with gasoline, oil, clean, etc., and many, many, many other duties, too numerous for me to want to pay Mr. Burke for the space to tell you about them. But IT'S ALL DIFFERENT NOW. My new "Sell-Yourself" plan eliminates all this extra labor and expense and will give me more time to devote personally with my customers and prospective customers, and the saving I make in handling my own sales work will be passed on to you, my customer, in more and better Service; in a price for your old car that is nearer its value to you; and in MORE PERSONAL ATTENTION. I invite you to come in and talk with "the boss" about your transportation problems, and also your opinion of my new sales plan. I'll be here every evening until eight and Sunday mornings from nine-thirty to twelve-thirty."

the event that this well develops production.

The matter was taken up with the city council at Huntington Beach in regular order at the time the permit was applied for several months ago, but at that time conditions did not warrant the erection of this proposed absorption plant and therefore the permit was not used. A request for the renewal of the permit was taken up recently before the city council and the request was granted, as far as the Superior Oil company knows, without any public protest. Had there been any well developed protest the project would have been abandoned, as the company does not wish to operate counter to public desire.

As all persons familiar with the operations of the absorption plants well know, there are no offensive features about them, such as smoke, dust or other objectionable features.

The land on which the company expects to build its absorption plant is some distance from the residential district of Huntington Beach and is the only convenient site which could have been acquired for the purpose intended. The plant will probably not be erected unless the results from the deep well tests now being conducted by the Superior company are favorable. In the event that the plant is erected it will represent an outlay of approximately $250,000 and will require the addition of experienced workmen. This, of course, will mean an increase in the company's payroll at Huntington Beach.

The policy of the company with regard to any of its activities is always in accord with the public wishes. Our relations with the people of Huntington Beach over a considerable number of years have always been entirely friendly."

FILES SECOND PLEA IN DIVORCE CASE

Accusing her husband of extreme cruelty and alleging that at one time he struck their child in the face with such force that the blow caused a hemorrhage, Lydia Nirenberg of Newport Beach has filed a second suit for divorce against Gustave Nirenberg. Mrs. Nirenberg's first complaint, filed August 7, 1930, was contested by her husband and a decree denied.

Community property valued at approximately $1000 is listed in the new complaint. The plaintiff is seeking custody of their two children and alimony of $75 monthly.

According to the complaint, the couple were married at Bay City, Mich., September 12, 1917, and separated April 15, 1930. Acts of mental cruelty charged in the new complaint include intoxication, calling of the plaintiff by vile names, alleged false accusations against her and eating in the restaurant operated by the complainant without paying for his meals. She also charges Nirenberg with refusal to contribute to upkeep of their home.

The first complaint, filed on August 7, last, made practically the same accusations. In the cross-complaint filed at that time Nirenberg accused his wife of going out nights without him and remaining away from home until the early hours of morning.

The cross complaint also asserted that Mrs. Nirenberg told her husband that she no longer loved him and that at one time, when a man had been drowned at Newport Beach, she told her husband that she wished he had been the victim.

At the time of filing her first divorce action Mrs. Nirenberg asked alimony of $75. The court ordered $25 monthly alimony pending hearing of the case. This, according to an affidavit by Mrs. Nirenberg, was never paid.

The law firm of Diehl and Anderson represented the plaintiff in both actions and Roland Thompson was attorney for Nirenberg when the first action was filed.

FLYING SHOEMAKERS

ZLIN, Czechoslovakia.—Thomas Baba, shoemaker, is one business man who appreciates the quick contact which can be made with the airplane. His factory employs 2,500 persons and turns out 100,000 pairs of shoes a day.

The second damage action as a result of the fire which destroyed a San Diego-bound stage of the Pacific Greyhound Lines, causing the loss of three lives, was filed yesterday by Mrs. Elsa Potvin, mother of Leo Potvin, one of the two sailors who lost their lives in the tragedy. The tragedy occurred on February 5, 1931, when the stage was suddenly swept from the highway near Serra during a severe shower and later burst into flames. Two sailors and a woman received burns that caused death.

Mrs. Potvin is suing the stage company and John Weston, driver in charge of the bus at the time of the accident, for $100,000 for the death of her son and an additional $100 actual expense listed as hospital and nurse's fees and funeral costs. The complaint alleges that the accident and death of her son was due to the careless, reckless and negligent operation of the bus by Weston. Potvin was removed from the burning vehicle and rushed to a hospital, where he died a few hours later, due to effects of the burns.

The first suit filed as a result of the tragedy was that of Fred Wright of Colorado, father of Virgil Wright, the other sailor who was burned to death. Wright in his suit demanded $25,000 from the Occidental Indemnity corporation for the death of his son.

WORLD PEACE IS DISCUSSED IN EL MODENA

EL MODENA, July 21.—As the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph G. Reece and children are enjoying a two weeks' vacation, Oscar Stanfield, a member of the church, spoke at the Friends church Sunday. He read Matthew 24:15, 21-51 for a lesson. Mr. Stanfield said in part:

"In the first part of this chapter Jesus is talking to his disciples and I wonder if we can imagine what Christ was thinking of? He told them that not one stone of the temple should be left upon another, that should not be thrown down."

"Writers who are familiar with facts say that these stones were so large that even the machinery which we have at the present time wouldn't be strong enough to lift and put in place the stones which were used in the temple. I do not know whether this is absolutely true; but it has been said that our electric or any other power couldn't produce the skill with which those stones were built into the temple walls."

"And Jesus said, that not one of these stones should be left on another. And the disciples asked Him 'When shall these things be? Take heed that no man deceive you.' He tells them there shall be wars and rumors of war; that there would be famines and pestilences and earthquakes; but the preaching of the word to every nation was the sign of His coming. No man knoweth the day nor the hour. In the days of Noye the people were interested in the things of life, just as we are. Some say, if that person, who is such a hypocrite, goes to heaven, I do not want to go there. Don't worry, those who are not ready, those who are hypocrites, will not come into the kingdom of heaven."

"The spears shall be made into pruning hooks and the swords into ploughshares; there has been great effort expended in attempting to secure world peace. There is an author, who has received one hundred thousand dollars for the best peace essay, and many are trying to bring us nearer to world peace. Quite a contrast to what Jesus says—sort of a picture of fear and dread. He, with His matchless personality, if we reject His patience and long-suffering, He is coming with power from on high. The peace building at Hague was built with money sent there from many nations, but the peace conferences have been held at Geneva and other cities, instead of in this building. There is nothing to denote the dependence of those people on God—it was built by agnostics, and there is no recognition of God. The peace movement is made by man in his own strength, with a heart that hasn't been cleaned, and no mention is made of God, who breathed into his nostrils the breath of life. It seems to me we are trying to build again the Temple of Babel."

"There will be no lasting peace except as an individual acknowledges God as His Saviour, and peace comes into his soul."

CALF RAISING IS TOPIC FOR RADIO SPEECH

which his return can be increased here? Analyzing further, it would take 5556 pounds, or 646 gallons of milk testing 3.6 per cent fat, to produce 200 pounds butterfat. For the 8.1 cents per gallon at the creamery, A further deduction must be made for hauling, which amounts to 1.7 cents per gallon, leaving but 1.4 cents return per gallon at the ranch for the producer on that quantity produced over and above his average.

This represents mighty cheap feed. With this milk, a calf could be fed for from 2 to 3 cents a day up to weaning age.

Cheap Feeds

Grains are relatively cheap, as well as hay, with little chance of material advances in the near future. This milk is worth more to the producer on his own place than 1.4 cents per gallon for raising young stock. On the basis of milk solids alone, the cost would be less than $26 per ton, which is less than any of the grains of equal food value.

If the raising of calves or other livestock is impractical, the most rigid culling must be practiced, as no dairyman can afford to produce milk for 1.4 cents per gallon. In places where the butterfat is separated out for churning into butter, the skim milk is being fed back to the cows in the grain with good results.

Until such time as the dairyman can be assured of disease-free, high-producing animals at a reasonable figure, it is only good business to buy the stock that someone else has raised up to freshening age more distant from the consuming centers, where land values and feed prices are lower? That seems a very logical solution. It would be if the producer here could be assured of the productive ability and freedom from all diseases which he would expect to maintain in his own herd. Perhaps the time is coming when that will be the universal practice.

Perhaps the time is coming when that will be the universal practice.

The June report of the Cooperative Dairy Products association shows an average daily surplus of several thousand gallons of milk. The producer receives 68 cents per pound of butterfat at the creamery for 80 per cent of his average production. In all over the average he receives but 10 cents per pound of butterfat. As an illustration, take a producer with 1000 pounds butterfat shipping average. On 800 pounds he would receive 68 cents per pound. On the remaining 200 pounds he would receive 10 cents per pound. In dollars this would amount to $544 for the 800 pounds and $20 for the 200 pounds. This would mean an average of 56.4 cents per pound of butterfat.

AGING WALKER FACES K.O. FROM SHARKEY SAYS EXPERT

'RUBBER CHECK' PITCHER SIGNS WITH OLD CLUB

PORLAND, Ore., July 21.—(UP)—Pitcher Rudy Kallio said today that he has signed a contract to pitch for the Seattle baseball club. "I guess that will be quite a surprise," Kallio said. He was recently given his unconditional release by the Portland team. Kallio signed with Portland this spring after Judge Landis freed him from his Seattle contract and declared him a free agent, on But now—

Well, they all come to the end of the road. There is always a last fight for The Kid. I think the Kid is ready for the porch.

Walker has been his own best—worst—body punisher. He is in strict training now, and looks great, but let us not forget that Double Yell Strubling looked pretty good, too, before the affair with Schmeling. In view of the kind of life he has led—he has been a boy of very irregular habits, folks—I don't believe he has the stuff left that he will need in there against Josef Paul Cukoschay.

Mickey has had more than a hundred fights, nearly all tough ones, at that. He has been going 12 years. He has taken beatings. Every fight takes a little out. Walker has given nobly and without stint, and taken it generously, too. The taking is no help to a chap when he reaches his 30th year. Most of them crumble long before then.

I thought I saw the signs of this in Miami last spring when he fought Risko. He should have beaten Risko. The old Walker would have given Johnny a pretty thorough going over. But the 1931 Walker didn't even beat the bumbling boxer boy from Cleveland. The Mick got the decision, certainly, but that was one he didn't earn. The worst Risko should have been given was a draw. Of course these eyeing eyes may be playing tricks again.

There comes a time when your kind of the cauliflower can train and train and train, and it doesn't mean anything. You can't start a fire without some kind of a spark, according to the Boy Scout Manual. My assumption is that the Mick no longer carries matches.

SEEK INITIATIVE TO O.K. RACE MEETING

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—(UP)—Attorney General U. S. Webb had under consideration today an initiative petition which would legalize horse race betting in California.

The petitions were given to Webb for approval as to form and title before their general circulation in an effort to gain 110,814 signatures, the number required by the time they must be filed in Sacramento August 13. The petitions suggest formation of a "California racing board."

Hoppe Will Make Movie for M-G-M

HOLLYWOOD, July 21.—(UP)—Willie Hoppe, billiard star, has signed a contract to make a special short film illustrating his technique, for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. It will be one of a series on various sports.

BUD'S FUTURE IS ROSY

"Bud" Taylor, Terre Haute boxer, has earned more than half a million dollars in purses since he started fighting 11 years ago. He has about $200,000 laid away for future living.

SHARKEY, WALKER ANALYZED

Lunar Leaguers End Third Quarter

SANTA ANA IN GAME TONIGHT WITH PACKERS

Leavitt Daley, one of the home guard's best hitters, was reported ill today, so Lackey probably will use "Doc" Smith at second base. Lackey expects to employ Joe Mene in left field, Wayne Nelson center and "Rosy" Merrill right.

National Night league baseball teams reach the three-quarter pole tonight with the feature of four games unquestionably scheduled between Santa Ana and Olive at Olive.

Anaheim, undefeated pace-setter, draws Long Beach at Anaheim. Whittier invades Huntington Beach. North Long Beach plays at Fullerton. Westminster has the bye.

Anticipating a record turnout, Ben Gelker, Olive business manager, has made arrangements for 600 extra seats at the Little Gateway city park. This will give the Olive plant a capacity of approximately 1000, Gelker said.

Santa Ana and Olive have been chasing the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow ever since Anaheim took both of them into camp, and their quarrel tonight gives the hard-pressed Valentines a dandy chance to gain a full game on the most feared of their pursuers, Santa Ana.

George Lackey's Stars, easy winners of the first half of the split season, have been guilty of slipshod, sloppy ball ever since the second half began, only the steady influence of a great catcher and a remarkable shortstop keeping them in the race. Unless they flash improved ball at Olive they are almost certain to fall two full games back of Anaheim. The Packers are able enough to cash in on mistakes.

Rudy Heman, Olive's great pitcher, is sure to oppose the Santa Anans. Having added a wonderfully effective slow ball to his fast-breaking curve, Heman has been almost unbeatable at times this season. He recently lost a 2-0 decision to Anaheim although giving the Valentines only three hits, one of them a scratch, and nobody got to first off him after the fifth inning.

Olive's defense has been none too sure back of Heman in some contests but Manager Guy Meats trusts his lineup will show few leaky spots tonight. "Heny" Thiry will catch Heman, with Bill Sweet at first base, "Chisel" Hattfield second, Terry Griffith third, Vern Thomas short, and Fritz Gunther, Ray Shell and Jerry Heard in the outfield.

Lackey has two pitchers ready, will not decide who to use until game time. Joe Cornelius has usually been quite effective against the Packers, but the "Iron Man" hasn't been doing so well of late so Earl Merrill may be the selection.

The standings:

NATIONAL NIGHT LEAGUE
W	L	Pct.
Anaheim	7	6	.500
Santa Ana	6	1	.857
Olive	5	2	.714
Huntington Beach	4	3	.571
North Long Beach	2	4	.333
Long Beach	2	4	.333
Fullerton	2	6	.250
Westminster	1	7	.143
Whittier

The other half of the bargain dear old Josef Paul, while having at 28 only a slight advantage in age, has treated Mr. Sharkey's physique with much more consideration than Mr. Walker has handled Mr. Walker's once rugged frame. The sailor has taken pretty good care of himself.

I do not like to pick a man with the fishwife's intellect to hammer down a sterling little fighting man like Walker, but that seems to be the ticket on this one.

Mr. Sharkey is not only bigger and stronger than Walker, and his equal as far as boxing goes, but he will enter this fight confident in his own mind—sure, he's got one, too—that he is about to obliterate the Kearns entry. That kind of Sharkey can fight pretty well.

The Mick, of course, will go down fighting. He will carry the colors to the last parapet and wind up in a burst of glory. That is why I think the fight will be a splendid spectacle, from one point of view. But from another, sad.

One of the best pitchers in baseball, probably the sweetest southpaw, in the National League, is William Watson Clark, 26-year-old Brooklyn ace, shown below. He is having a good year with the climbing Robins.

MANSFIELD IN MADIGAN SAYS RETURN TO OLD MOUND SCENES BE UNDEFEATED

Ghosts walked at the Bowl last night.

Jimmy Mansfield, pitching hero of many a City league struggle here in years past, returned to the scene of his early triumphs and left-handed Hawley's Sporting Goods to a 12-2 decision over Monroe's Pharcacy.

Although lacking some of the blinding speed that characterized his slinging in the old days at Lincoln park, the veteran English southpaw had enough left to stop the Druggists with five scattered singles, fair eight in seven innings.

On the other hand, the Hawlays enjoyed two large innings at the expense of Les Pangie, who has done some fine flinging since joining the Monroe squad. They scored four times in the third, with errors almost totally to blame, and got five more in the fourth on two walks, two walks, a couple of fielders' choices and several errors.

The Presbyterians defeated the Spurgeson M. E., South, nine even more decisively in the curtain-raiser. The count was 19 to 2, with the Presbyterians dynamiting Earl Jones for six runs in the third, five in the fourth, six more in the fifth, Howard Youel, Schwarm and Paul all hit homers.

Ray Grissell turned in a fine pitching performance for the winners, might have had a shutout but for walks in the first and seventh.

SUMMER BIBLE COURSE OPENS NEXT SUNDAY

Laguna Artist's Finger Broken In Highway Accident

LAGUNA BEACH, July 21.—Ida Randall Bolles, one of the leading artists here, and a resident for a number of years, was cut in the head and had a finger broken when the car in which she was driving was struck on Coast boulevard Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Bolles made a left-hand turn into Oak street, according to George M. Buffum, 575 Ventura street, Pasadena, causing him to run into her car, also to strike one driven by Dr. R. Irwin Harper. Mrs. Bolles was taken to the Laguna Beach hospital, where Dr. E. A. Lundquist conducts the class beginning August 3. This was the substance of a report made to the committee headed by Miss Jean Stovel at a meeting held Monday morning.

R. A. Bird of the White House cafe took $50 worth of tickets for his employees and others. He said that he knew what a summer adult school meant for a community and expressed much gratification at the report that plans were already being made for next year's school. He said he was in Seattle when similar work was taken up and that it became the greatest single factor in developing that city, that where the work was pushed and classes held the city developed most rapidly until it became a district of apartment houses and high class residences.

Fraternities are not democratic, he declared, but make up for this lack with the good they accomplish in other lines.

A. P. M. Brown, member of the Anaheim Lions club, invited the Rotarians to a meeting of the Lions Friday noon at which time J. Allan Davis of the legal department of the auto club will speak on the new motor vehicle laws.

Kuchel outlined the history of the college, telling of the advancements made during the past 51 years since it was founded. He described life on the campus.

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — Frank Cerutti, a truck gardener, recently paid his taxes with 24 pounds of nickels, dimes and pennies.

The assessment was $76.

It was the heaviest tax ever paid in this county, and had to be brought to the treasurer's office in a truck.

I'd pay several cents a mile extra for that Free Wheeling sensation in my Studebaker—if I had to.

But the joke is, it doesn't cost money—it saves money.

A Studebaker is swell when running along with the motor engaged, but it is those moments of momentum—those miles of Free Wheeling—which give me my grandest thrills . . . and these don't cost—they PAY.

I sail along, manufacturing miles and money!

About one mile in seven or six or five is free—because you save from a seventh to a fifth of your gas and oil.

PASTOR MAKES CHRIST SPIRIT MESSAGE TOPIC

Speaking to his congregation at morning worship Sunday Dr. George A. Warner, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church chose for his subject the words found in the letter to the Romans.

"If any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his" and said that with these words he was reaching the heart of the gospel.

In his sermon he said in part: "Certain passages of scripture chop their way down to the center of things. This text blazes a very plain trail for Christian procedure. There is no equivocation, Assurance is the watchword."

"Not He will do tolerably well, but not quite so well as he might do; not that he will get on after a fashion, and have quite a respectable entrance with the saints of light; not that he will by personal push arrive at a worthy goal but fall of the final reward." Not any of these things but if a man fails to possess the exact Spirit of Christ, "he is none of his."

Synthesis is as necessary as analysis. Twere better never to pull the flower apart, if it cannot be put together again. We must loose the Spirit in the understanding thereof.

The Spirit of Jesus is the Spirit of Quest. Somewhere he said "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." Truth in word and deed, honesty in all our dealings, honor in all our relationships, and loveliness in all our attitudes are the central object of his desire.

Goals of Life

"The Greeks summed up their goals of life in three words; goodness, truth, beauty. They did not think of them as externals but as part and parcel of the life. They were to be related to the everyday commonplaces of life. The high transfiguring experience is not to be looked for in the after working hours but rather in the daily task. To delegate to an inferior place the daily round of duties is to give the lie to the most of life.

"Goodness, truth and beauty are to become a party of every man's job. The manufacturer is to find it in the factory, the teacher in the classroom, the student in his studies, the laborer at his task, the cook in the kitchen. "The manufacturer will find it when he thinks of goodness, truth and beauty before he thinks of his profits. He must have his profits, of course; that is his living. But when he increases his profits by making his product inferior to what it should be, or selling it at an unfair price, he will see no vision of perfection. If the teacher in teaching fails to put goodness, truth and beauty into the teaching, there's no pearl of great price for him. It is one of our follies in these latter times, that we have divided life up in all sorts of ways between sacred and secular, between utility and beauty; and the like.

"There is nothing commonplace that we do not make that way: nothing second rate unless we put that stamp upon it. Whose so has eyes to see let him see.

"The Jesus Quest was to make goodness, truth and beauty the rectifying lens whereby the job of the everyday becomes the challenge to spiritual expression.

"The Spirit of Christ is the spirit of love.

DOG AFFECTION WITH RABIES BITES SEVEN

Seven persons in Santa Ana have been bitten by a mad dog and are obliged to take the Pasteur treatment for the prevention of rabies. It was revealed by the Orange County health department today.

The number of people bitten by the animal was not known until Saturday night, when an investigation was made.

"History records that the preaching of a new ethic has always resulted in a demonstration of spiritual power. The growth and power of the church has always been significant whenever it has been fearlessly contending for human rights. Witness the anti-slavery days; the anti-saloon days; the pre-woman's rights days. In these hours the materialism that would annihilate man as man, in the Jesus sense, must be surcharged with a new declaration of human rights. To discover a God who is sufficient and through Jesus to introduce him to our whole social order to his way of life is the high call of these days."

A further investigation made Saturday by W. W. Chandler, chief sanitary inspector, revealed that Vincent Sanchez, who lives in the neighborhood, three members of the Calvillo family at 1716 West Third street, and Darcez Mateo at 504 North Daisy street, were all bitten by the mad dog.

Victims of the infected dog were urged by the health department to take steps immediately to take the Pasteur treatment so there would be no danger of fatalities in the case.

Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, declared today that unless the situation was very closely watched there would be danger of another epidemic of rabies in Santa Ana such as the one recently ended.

W. H. Hamil, city pound officer, and the entire police force are co-operating with the health department to capture stray dogs and to impound them and see that they are properly disposed of.

Chandler, in the investigation conducted Saturday, ordered 26 dogs in the neighborhood of the rabies outbreak chained up until it was ascertained whether or not they had been bitten. All dog owners in the

Police News

W. S. Wehrly, of 620 North Main street, reported to the Santa Ana police department today that a purse, owned by his wife, was stolen at Corona del Mar, Sunday, while she was bathing. The purse contained a wrist watch, $6 in cash, a pencil and her glasses.

Joseph A. Holub, 35, wanted here on a charge of escaping jail in 1928, who was arrested by sheriff's officers at Bent, Oregon, several days ago, was returned to the county jail yesterday. He will be charged with violation of probation and escaping probation. Deputy Sheriff Earl Nickles returned the man to Santa Ana.

Declarating that "we are in the formative period of the church" and that "so many people have vague ideas about the church," the Rev. Walter S. Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church, spoke to members of the men's Bible class yesterday morning on "The Structure of the Church." In his talk Rev. Buchanan said in part:

"Denominations were not known when Christ organized the church. The church was organized by Jesus Christ for all people. The prophecy that 'the foundation for the church shall be laid in Zion' was fulfilled when Jesus said 'repentance and remission of sins shall be preached in Jerusalem.'

"This gospel of repentance and remission of sins is the foundation of the church. The walls are composed of the individuals, all fitting into the pattern and making a unified whole. We are all alike. Each man faces the same temptations and passions and it is impossible for us to say that one man is better than another. We must, like apostles, take over the responsibilities of the church.

"When the church was organized on the day of Pentecost, these responsibilities were taken over by the apostles who had heard and heeded the word—forsake the world and its possessions to follow Christ.

"They took the responsibility of holding up Christ before the world and being true to Him. Christ was the center of their lives and they abandoned their possessions to follow Him. When the apostles disposed of their worldly possessions, that also cast aside their bitter thoughts, for you cannot love Jesus and hold bitter thoughts.

"Christ said to the disciples, 'Come, follow me' and He is saying the same things to you today. Men, if you have had reverses, do not go into the basement and hide. Turn to Christ and with Him you can do things. Go on. Prove your metal by doing the best you know how and, if you do this and trust Christ, you will succeed. Make this class a dynamo of good actions and the men of Santa Ana will be cheerful despite business depressions and reverses.

"The business depression was good for us in one way. We did not know how to stand prosperity. Money alone does not bring happiness.

The apostles realized this when they cast aside their worldly possessions to follow in the footsteps of Jesus. They did not need worldly possessions. But Christ does not ask you to give up your worldly holdings just because you are following him."

City Trustees Discard Letter From Civic League

ORGANIZATION ASKS CAUTION IN SPENDING

An appeal to the city council from the organization claiming to represent tax payers and others of Santa Ana asking for retrenchment and a request for more caution in making donations was given a rude reception by the city trustees last night, when the communication from the Orange County Civic league, through its secretary, Wayne Goble, was officially ordered thrown in the waste paper basket.

Following the reading of the communication by City Clerk Ed L. Veyegy, Mayor John Knox asked members of the board what they desired to do with it.

"I move you, Mr. Mayor, that the communication be consigned to the waste paper basket," stated Councilman E. G. Warner.

"I second the motion," spoke up Councilman J. L. McBride, and without further comment the motion was put to a vote and carried, Warner, McBride and Hasenjaeger voting to take this action.

Councilman Paul Witmer did not exercise a vote and Mayor Knox does not vote unless there is a tie. So by a vote of three to none, the communication of the tax payers was made merely a scrap of paper, as far as the councilmen were concerned, to be tossed into a waste paper basket.

League Candidate

Councilman Warner, who made the motion, was supported in election by the same group of voters represented in the league which sent the communication to the council. Warner was a candidate of the Economy league, whose publicity agent during the campaign was Wayne Goble, now secretary of the Orange County Civic league and still represents the tax payers who were and are members of the same organization.

Councilman McBride, who seconded the motion, was on the other side of the fence during the campaign, being opposed by the tax payers' league.

The communication from the Orange County Civic league did not make any demands of the council, but merely suggested that the board "use its head" in doing out tax payers' money during these hard times. "The Orange County Civic league, representing hundreds of tax payers, urges your consideration of these matters along conservative lines and with a view of guarding the interests of the average citizen and recommends that similar expenditures be postponed until a more fortunate time." That was the only request.

$5000 in Donations

In suggesting that donations be dispensed with at the present time, it was pointed out in the communication that the council had already given away $5000. "Please understand that we command all organizations listed as receiving these appropriations to the support and cooperation of the public. We believe in the principle that taxes are compulsory and should be used only for the essentials of government, while benevolences should be voluntary on the part of those able and willing to contribute in addition to their taxes; also that all non-essentials be eliminated, at least for this year."

"On May 4 your board voted $55 for an ad in the real estate magazine and immediately the Masonic Bulletin asked for a similar $55 advertisement, and got it."

"Also, on May 4, your board donated $2,400 to the Community Chest by appointing its secretary, R. R. Miller, a special policeman at $140 per month, and Mrs. Lorraine McMillan a special policewoman at $60 per month, a subterfuge to make the donation legal. We are not in

"Many residents of Santa Ana have felt the pinch of greatly reduced incomes and in some cases have lost their properties, partly because of their inability to pay taxes, assessments and the other costs of property ownership and maintenance. This situation calls for the co-operation of all public spirited citizens in reducing expenditures of tax money wherever possible."

"Many worthy organizations have received appropriations from the public treasury in the past and nothing was thought about it, but now those conditions have changed and it is no longer pleasing to tax payers to have boards of trustees play Santa Claus with their money."

Suggestion Made

"As interested citizens and tax payers, therefore, may we be permitted to suggest and recommend adherence to the principle that taxes are compulsory and should be used only for the essentials of government, while benevolences should be voluntary on the part of those able and willing to contribute in addition to their taxes; also that all non-essentials be eliminated, at least for this year."

"We believe in them, we like them, and we'd like to increase these donations. But as tax payers we can't afford it this year," the letter read.

Pretty Young Dancer
Returns to Screen
Work After Visit

Completing a visit of several days in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Duckett, 2025 Victoria drive, Miss Neva Lynn returned yesterday to Hollywood to resume her work in the motion picture field. Miss Lynn, who is well known in this city, where she has visited Mr. and Mrs. Duckett on various occasions, is a dancer of more than ordinary ability and has figured in various Ziegfeld productions in New York City, including "Smiles," in which she appeared with Marilyn Miller.

She has been interested in motion picture work for the past year, and has a part in "The Common Law," also appearing in the Columbia picture, "Lover Come Back," so recently released. In returning to Hollywood yesterday she was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Duckett, and was called immediately to the Mack Sennett studios by the head publicity man, Jed Buell, a friend of the Ducketts and of herself and well known in this city, where he had charge of the Broadway City development.

The charming young dancer looks upon Mr. and Mrs. Duckett as her uncle and aunt, as her actual uncle married Mrs. Duckett's sister and is a frequent welcome guest in their beautiful home. During this latest visit, there were several informal affairs in her honor, including a supper party in Irvine park with Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Morrow. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Duckett and their guests were entertained at Balboa, where Mr. and Mrs. Morrow were spending the week end with Mrs. Susan Rutherford, and where a refreshing swim in the bay was a part of the pleasant outing.

Choir Members Share
Mid-Summer Outing
At Beach Home

Each month brings some special social affair for members of the choir of the First Methodist Episcopal church and July's festivity was an enjoyable event of Saturday afternoon and evening, when the hospitable summer home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Rutter on Balboa island was rendezvous for the singing.

Approximately 50 picnickers assembled at the beach to share the afternoon of swimming and the varied pursuits of a seaside outing. Each took some contribution to the picnic supper served at long tables set out in the garden of the home.

The date was selected to coincide with the famous Tournament of Lights and the party had an advantageous point on the island from which to watch the brilliant pageant. At its conclusion all returned to the Rutter home for the final social features of the successful outing.

more substantial but equally washable, could be substituted. There is nothing new in the fact that cotton blouses can be successfully washed, but what feminine follower of fashion could resist a thrill at the sight of this season's array of good-looking belts, beads and bags, so many of them destined for frequent baths?

These new fashions are being hailed with joy because women now realize that smartness is more than a matter of becoming colors and of up-to-the-minute lines. The well-groomed appearance that wins admiration depends largely on personal daintiness and on the immaculate cleanliness of every garment worn.

Fortunately, the word "washing" is no longer associated with hard work. Even the working girl with only one good-looking costume in her possession learns to keep herself attractive by making the nightly laundering of underwear and accessories as routine a matter as brushing her teeth. She knows that the trick of keeping clothing clean is never to let it become really soiled. And so, after a reassuring dip in the mirror each day, she faces her job and her social appointments with poise and serene self-confidence.

This charming tailored suit of black-and-white plaid durene cotton net is incapable of as many immersions in soap and water as may be required to keep it trim. The linen gloves that flare from wrist to elbow and button snugly on the jacket sleeves really need a daily dip if they are to retain the snowy freshness so essential to their chic. Flaring gloves of white leather, are soon to become the bride of Earle Hubert of Los Angeles, Miss Melva Fletcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron J. Fletcher, 264 North Cleveland street, Orange, was presented a number of lovely gifts at a shower given recently by Mrs. Wal Er Kogler in her home at 256 North Grand street, Orange.

The afternoon was spent by the guests in completing appliqued quilt-blocks for Miss Fletcher, and then the bride-to-be was called into the dining room where she unwrapped the packages and arranged them on a lace-covered table where lighted candles cast a soft glow over the gifts. A special feature of the afternoon was a charming message from her grandmother, Mrs. Persis Ainsworth, of Orange, who was unable to be present.

Preceding the tea hour when Mrs. Wetlin, Mrs. Arch D. Burkett, Miss Lorraine Ragan and Miss Phyllis Kogler, the honor guest, who is a popular Orange soloist, and Mrs. Leon Des Larzes, equally well known, each presented a group of songs, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake.

Asked to enjoy the delightful afternoon were Mrs. Emily Reed, Mrs. Rebecca Pope, Mrs. D. C. Pixley, Mrs. Charles Carlson, Mrs. R. C. Burkett, Mrs. J. A. Campbell, Mrs. Jean Des Larzes, Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake.

Mrs. Ross Harlan, Mrs. Neleta Wolfe, Mrs. Lydia Todd, Mrs. V. A. Wood, Mrs. A. R. Smith, Mrs. James Ragan, Mrs. V. D. Johnson, Mrs. F. L. Ainsworth, Mrs. A. H. Hallock, Mrs. M. O. Ainsworth, Mrs. David Wetlin.

When There's No Cream

I made a discovery this morning that may interest you women who like trying new flavors. No cream for breakfast stared us in the face! And that was a calamity, because luscious red raspberries were coming up for breakfast! Then I remembered what Madame — said the day before about the delights of wild strawberries with kirsch, as served in France. Kirsch wasn't available, but a bottle of thick maraschino syrup was, so I tried a little of the syrup on the raspberries . . . m-m-m—good? I thought so,

The man then threw the net far out and shortly heard wee Clowny shout. "That surely was a dandy toss. I guess you're pretty good. I wish that I could throw like that, but if I tried, I'd fall down flat. Please haul it in and throw it out once more. I wish you would."

"Now, wait," replied the friendly man. "I'll work as quickly as I can, but it takes time to drag my net up on the sandy shore. If I should pull it up too fast it would scare the fish and they'd whiz past. You see, I take it easy and I catch that many more."

"Oh, can't we help you?" Scout cried. And then they all rushed up and tried to lend a hand. The man said, "Thanks, but there is a trick to this. You lads just stand and watch the fun and I will show you how it's done. I'll shortly show you all a sight that you would hate to miss."

And when he pulled the net to shore the Tinymites let out a roar. The net was flopping all around because it was so full of fish of every size. "Oh, I didn't realize that you would catch so many," Coppy said. "That was some pull!"

Just then the Travel Man returned and, with the Tinymites, he learned that they were all to have a dandy fish meal as a gift. The Travel Man said, "Well, that is fine. I know that I will relish mine. I'm going to show these lads a sight. Then we'll give you a lift."

He led the Tinies to a shack and said, "Before we all go back I want you lads to see what that someone caught today. Just look inside and there you'll see that it's as big as can be." When Scout looked by he said, "Oh, my, how much does that thing weigh?"

One of the posters used in promoting the five-year plan. . . . The peasant woman is shown heading for the cooperative farm . . . held back by a kulak, a priest and her drunken husband.

By RALPH L. COSLER

SOVIET Russia today is undertaking the greatest educational program ever attempted by any nation—and is doing it by means of kindergarten principles adapted for the use of adults.

In Soviet Russia there are approximately 60,000,000 illiterates—grown men and women who can neither read nor write.

The Russian government is determined to stamp out this illiteracy.

It has to do this if it is to survive.

The success of its vast communistic program depends, in the long run, on the loyalty of the ordinary citizen. This loyalty can only be held by means of propaganda; propaganda that has to be clever, unceasing and ever-present.

But how can propaganda be handed out to people who cannot read it? What good is a ream of communistic pamphlets if the people for whom they are intended cannot make head or tail of them?

Russia, accordingly, is making an amazing effort to educate her teeming millions.

But that is not all of it.

Russia's 60,000,000 illiterates, in addition to being unable to read or write, are woefully ignorant of what most people of today consider some of the first principles of civilized life. Parents do not know how to bring up their children. Sanitation, in many cases, is an unknown quantity. The peasants whose lot is to be improved by the use of the tractor and other devices of up-to-date agricultural experts do not understand how to use them, or why they should try to use them.

Consequently the Russian government has another motive for educating its people. And it is trying to do it by means of a campaign that is both impressive and picturesque.

I HAVE just returned from an extensive tour of Russia, during which I fairly marveled at the propaganda work being done by means of posters.

There is an almost infinite number of these posters. One sees them everywhere—in the museums, on great boards in parks, in art galleries, on city streets. I saw them, literally, by the thousands. Millions have been printed and put up in all parts of Russia.

The subject matter covers everything relating to the Soviet government, its aims and its purposes.

To understand this great poster campaign it is necessary to go back a little way in history.

When the Bolsheviks took charge of the Russian government in the fall of 1917, they found a disorganized and confused country, 70 per cent of whose inhabitants were illiterate. At the same time, it was utterly imperative that tremendous changes in the habits of thought and life of all of these people be introduced. Consider a few of these drastic changes:

First, there was the anti-religious campaign. The mystical and devout Russian had to be changed to an atheist, devoid of religion.

Next, there was the campaign for collective farming. The peasant, clinging stubbornly to his acres, had to be induced to give up his individualistic methods and see his farm merged in huge state-owned holdings.

On top of that came the five-year plan. This plan entailed great sacrifices; naturally, it had to be explained to all of the people so that it could have their support.

In addition, there was the regular Communist doctrine that must be instilled on every hand.

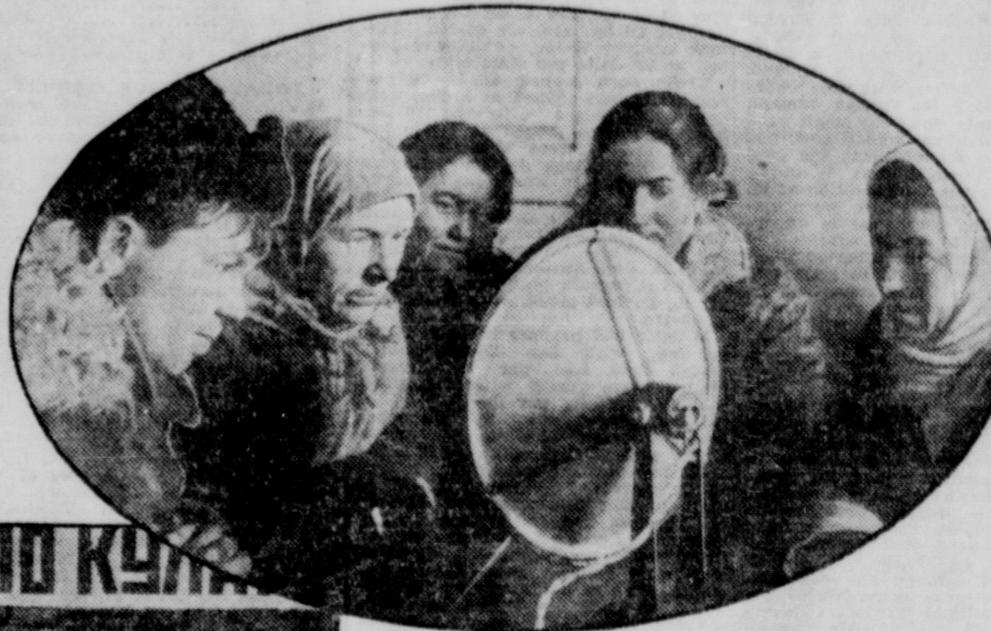

A poster showing children how to brush their teeth and wash themselves.

course. A well-fed and happy peasant is tilling his farm in the foreground, and is using a tractor to do it.

This, of course, emphasizes the stock argument of the Communists. The peasant is told that in the old days, when there was an established church and all Russians were devout Christians, the lot of the peasant was miserable. In the future, when religion has been abolished and scientific farming methods have been adopted, the peasant will be prosperous and happy.

Even more spirited, however, are the posters urging war

Going back to kindergarten principles, the whole country is plastered with big, brightly colored cartoons that put over Soviet propaganda against alcohol, the church, uncleanness, and wealth, while radio stories and newspapers printed in half-inch type like a child's ABC's help the cause

Strictly educational, with no advertising . . . Russia's radio is one of her mightiest means of propaganda . . . and these peasants are listening to Soviet orators.

"Let's Smash the Kulak!" says the inscription on this poster . . . which shows the individual farmer gradually being surrounded by the mechanized collectives.

"Let's Smash Alcohol!" says this government poster . . . The Soviet government makes and sells liquor, but propagandizes against its use.

against the kulak, visible in every part of Russia.

To understand these one must first understand just what the kulak is.

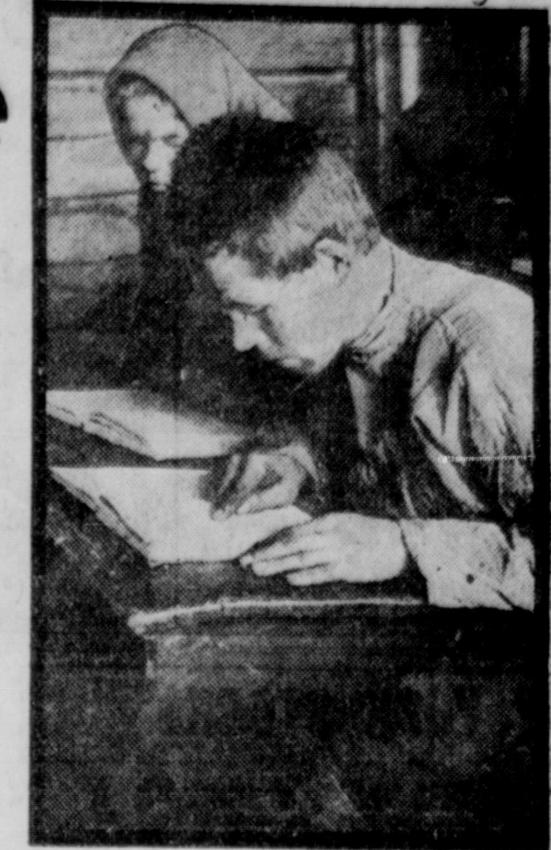

Before the revolution there was a considerable group of peasant farmers who had lifted themselves above the level of the average land-tiller. They had enlarged their holdings, had obtained cattle and horses and had become comparatively rich. As a natural result, they did not look at all favorably on the revolution, and they especially disliked the program for collectivized farms.

These comparatively well-to-do peasants were known as kulaks. When the revolution became successful and the theories of Karl Marx began to be put into practice, the kulak got squeezed and his lot became unpleasant.

For a time the Soviet leaders did all they could to put collective farming into effect by force. The kulak resisted mightily, with all the stubbornness of the stiff-necked peasant; and he resisted so successfully that last July Stalin issued orders that collective farming should no longer be forced on the peasants. Instead of forceful measures, the kulak was to be persuaded.

Soviet agents went through the country to do the persuading. They told the peasants that if they would put their stock, machinery and labor into the collective farms, the government would give them land to work and would furnish them with seeds, tractors and other machinery.

In addition, the government would build canning factories and packing plants where farm produce could be sold. Furthermore, schools would be provided for all rural villages, and radios would be installed in farm homes.

Thus the collective farm was made to look as attractive as possible. In addition, however, the Soviet undertook to attack the kulak from the outside. Russia is literally plastered with posters which urge the citizens to make such a success of the collective farms that the kulak will simply be forced out of business.

One of these posters is particularly impressive. It shows the kulak—and a sour-looking individual he is, too—in a narrow plot of ground, completely surrounded by collectivized farms. On these farms are men with tractor-drawn plows, who are plowing in steadily-narrowing concentric circles about the plot occupied by the kulak.

The idea, of course, is that the state-owned farms, equipped with modern machinery, will be so productive that the kulak cannot hope to compete with them. As a matter of fact, it may yet work out that way.

IT is hard to tell just now how the collective farm idea is progressing. Government posters on display in Moscow claim that 50 per cent of the peasants have already taken up collective farming, and assert that whereas they only expected to have 57,000 collective farms by 1933, by July of 1930 saw them with more than 30,000—indicating that the program was running ahead of schedule.

On the other hand, it was reported that 25 per cent of the peasants left the collectives after Stalin's order that no one was to be compelled to enter the collective farms by force; and a guide in Russia admitted to me that the collective farming idea has, in many respects, been a failure.

"We could not change the psychology of the Russian peasant in so short a time," she said.

One of the most effective of the collective-farm propaganda posters that I brought back with me shows a peasant woman who wants to join the collective farm plan. She is shown standing on the road, where a sign points to "community agriculture," which is visible in the background as a model farm, worked by machinery, with prosperous-looking buildings. The peasant woman is determined to go there, but she is shown being held back by three men—her drunken husband, a frenzied priest and a rich kulak.

The religious posters are inescapable. I saw them everywhere I went—in exhibition buildings, in the parks, in museums and elsewhere. In this connection it must be remembered that the Greek Orthodox Church, before the revolution, was an established church, closely linked with the czars. It is probably only natural that the revolutionary leaders should oppose a religion which, from their point of view, had always been on the side of the oppressors of the common man.

There are many museums in Russia given over wholly to anti-religious propaganda, which consists chiefly of posters. These posters seek to teach that religion is only an invention of man; that one is trained to be religious, and not born with a religious faith or a need for religion. The various religions of the world are described, and it is shown that each is different; and it is argued, therefore, that God is an invention of man—since, the posters say, if there really were a God there would be only one God and only one religion.

These posters also show pictures of scientists who have spoken against religion. They teach, in addition, that man has no soul, and that his body is a simple physical mechanism. Each poster, of course, adds that religion was invented by the capitalists to keep men from thinking.

THIS campaign has been pretty effective. A known religious believer cannot get a food card. He cannot vote or hold a government position. The priests are almost beggars. Children cannot be given religious instruction. Fully 900 Russian monasteries have been closed.

In Moscow, there is a great exhibition building in the Park of Culture and Rest, and in it one gets the full force of the poster campaign.

The park is for the working man and woman, and in the exhibition building there is a complete set of "educational" posters.

Here are posters showing how to keep one's home clean; how to take care of the hair, teeth and nails; what foods to cook, and how to cook them; what sort of clothing is most healthful and enjoyable; how to prevent disease and how to treat illness.

Here, also, are posters contrasting the position of the average Russian today with his position under the czars; posters which purport to show how much better off the Russian worker is than the worker in capitalistic countries; posters showing how the capitalistic nations are (supposedly) planning to make war on Russia; posters depicting the World War as a capitalistic war, forced on the masses by designing capitalists in a struggle for world markets; posters urging the people to "smash alcohol"—for the government is conducting a "dry" campaign although it makes and sells liquor itself.

Following a rather dull period the market has recently become more active, though the volume of trading has been the case during many recent sessions. The foreign news dominated the market as a whole with cables linking up most of the Asiatic tone. The response was quite general among the principal issues and the highs were adhered to three months ago. The situation with regard to Goodyear Tires has been quite favorable, with the publication of the Hoover proposals to the conference advocating the granting of short term credits to Germany to the extent of $1,200,000,000.

The financial news has furnished some constructive items among which has been the better than expected second quarter reports of several income companies such as National Biscuit, Pittsburgh Plate Glass and Gen Foods. These companies showed their dividends for the period covered or almost so.
